Q & A

Why does your work stand out from others who do what you do?

My clients say it best. See over 60 100% transparent LinkedIn Recommendations from my clients who were hired with my assistance on my LinkedIn profile:

What do you wish customers knew about you or your profession?

There are millions part-time hacks out there pretending to be professional resume writers, most of them are actually located in foreign countries. That's why they advertise very low prices, deliver subpar work (not native American English speakers) and you will be unable to get a refund. Big corporations normally outsource writing to the lowest cost provider (foreign writers) avoid them like because your resume and LinkedIn profile are far too important for that. Online resume builders create weak type-written work histories, even other HR professionals, Truck Drivers and immigrants know enough to come to me for resume writing assistance. My best advice to you is to either select a proven Certified Professional Resume Writer with an established reputation for results or do business with local writing talent.

Do you do any sort of continuing education to stay up on the latest developments in your field?

I interview Fortune 500 Hiring Managers, Executives, HR Directors and Business Owners that actually do hiring on a regular basis. I am always asking them about their hiring process and what tips I can relay to help job searchers nationwide. I also normally receive feedback from my clients when they are hired. So, I keep track of what is working now and what is not. I am always researching and learning about the latest industry developments because I update my job search eBook annually to give my job search coaching clients the best strategies available.

Write your own question and answer it.

Why would you ever take a knife to a gun fight? It should never happen folks never, especially when a Righteous Resume is so affordable and it pays for itself many times over.

What do you like most about your job?

I enjoy helping others in a meaningful and significant way.

If you were a customer, what do you wish you knew about your trade? Any inside secrets to share?

If you want a great resume, Linkedin profile and cover letter steer clear of: Fast and cheap typists, all websites with lots of hype but no proof or credentials, online resume builders and big corporate websites. Instead go directly to the source, an expert Certified Professional Resume Writer with solid credentials and proof of expertise. This way you avoid the corporate mark up, automated software (garbage) and outsourcing to the lowest bidder. Great writers do not work for peanuts, so be prepared to invest in your future success. The return on investment is impressive and lasting.

How did you decide to get in your line of work?

I was divinely guided, thus the name RighteousResumes.com.

Tell us about a recent job you did that you are particularly proud of.

Review my own resume on the services page of RighteousResumes.com. It's the Mona Lisa of resumes in my humble opinion. Compare that to any other CPRW's online resume. Oh wait, they never post their resumes online. I wonder why?

If you have a complicated pricing system for your service, please give all the details here.

My prices are affordable and they are all posted on my website. Job Search Coaching is only $50/hour because I want folks to come to me for help when they need it. I also give resume reviews via email with a flat rate price quote. Send me your current best resume with your most desired job title goal by email and I will provide you with a free resume review and a quote for work needed. Remember, this is a tax deductible job search expense. Investing in yourself is what all smart professionals do because missed opportunities are far more costly than resume writing service.

What questions do customers most commonly ask you? What's your answer?

Can I meet you in person? Yes, I'm right here in North Dallas Texas. Can you interview me by phone? Yes, I have served thousands of clients nationwide by phone, Internet and email since 2004. Can you write a great resume for someone in my profession? I write resumes for 97% of the clients that make this inquiry. After an in-depth personal interview, I will have more than enough content to impress Hiring Managers/Executives/Hiring Teams.

What advice do you have for a customer looking to hire a provider like you?

If a resume writer's website isn't convincing and compelling and doesn't offer credentials and independent third-party evidence of expertise, how can they do a great job of building your value and selling you on paper?

Describe the most common types of jobs you do for your clients.

Resume Writing, Executive Resume Writing, Cover Letter Writing, Linkedin Profile Writing and Job Search Coaching.

Do you have a favorite story from your work?

In my first year of professional resume writing, two employers had a bidding war over one of my executive clients. As a result of his fine Linkedin profile and resume, he benefited with MASSIVE raise, a $25K expense account, company paid vehicle Lincoln Navigator with company paid insurance, deluxe benefit package and the employer that was out-bid retained his services as an Independent Accounting & Finance Consultant at $554,000. I was absolutely thrilled for him when I received the good news phone call.

If you were advising someone who wanted to get into your profession, what would you suggest?

Apprentice with an industry veteran first because there is a steep learning curve. The work is overwhelming for newbies. Also, you can learn faster, work smarter and produce better results with help.

What questions should a consumer ask to hire the right service professional?

Can you back up your website's claims with independent third-party evidence? Answer - Yes, all the proof you need is detailed right on my website and Linkedin profile.
